THE STATE CENSUS.

Report of the Commissioner of Agriculture.

The State Commissioner of Agriculture, Mr. Henry Sparnick, has made a report to Governor Scott, setting forth the results of the enumera-tion of inhabitants of the State (provided for by the act of March 19, 1869.) so far as they have been ascertained from the reports made to the bureau, up to the date of the report, November 22. 1869. The commissioner remarks:

been ascertained from the report, November 22, 1569. The commissioner remarks:

This statement embraces the returns of seventeen counties, leaving fourteen still to be heard from and is, from the nature of the case, too imperfect to be used either as a basis for the apportionment of representation in the General Assembly of this State for the year 1870, and until the year 1875, as contemplated by the constitution of 1863, or for the collation of such statistics as would enable us to note with precision the changes which have taken place in our population, except in the particular localities indicated in the table. For the persent, however, it will serve the general purpose of acquainting the people of the State with the progress which has been made by this bureau in the exercise of this particular branch of its functions, and can be accepted, I think, as a very fair criterion of what may be expected from the completed returns.

As the act under which we operated required simply an enumeration of the inhabitants of the State for a specific purpose, and this was the precursor by only one year of the very claborate census taken every decade by the General Government, I deem it unwise to burden our returns with any other details than such as were essentially economical and politic in their nature, and hence the only specifications to be found in the books, of which the annexed table is a partial abstract, are such as embrace a roster of children within the ordinary ages of pupilage; one of citizens constitutionally entitled to the exercise of the clective franchise, and finally a general enumeration of inhabitants sub-livided by color and sex. The first of these specifications was made at the request of the State Superintendent of Education, the second was dictated by obvious policy, and tile last was the natural mode of reporting the information required by the act.

In connection with the results obtained, so far as they go, I have stated the aggregate population by counties, according to the present census and b this portion of our work, as the officers in charge of it have almost unexceptionally compilated of the indisposition of the planters of the State to make proper returns, either from the fear that they were to be used as a basis for excessive taxation, or from a lamentable misapprehension of the true interests of their own department of industrial pursuit. Both misconceptions I anticipated, and endenvored to dispet through the prints of the State, but official publication failed to remove the general distrust of a State Government to which the planting interest has been undisguisedly antagonized from political prejudices from its very inception.

to which the phasmac guisedly antagonized from political prejudices growth antagonized from the now unreported from its very inception.

As there are reasonable grounds for believing that the returns from the now unreported counties will be completed in a few days, I defer saying more of the operations of this bureau until such time as the full possession of figures and facts will fortify me in the suggestions I shall feel induced to make to your Excellency in refer-ence to lis future administration as an agency in the promotion of the material interests of the State. I have the honor to be, your obedient ser-vant,

[IENRY SPARNICK, Commissioner.

THE CARDIFF GIANT.

The Mystery a Mystery Still.

The discussions growing out of the discovery of the stone giant in Onondaga County, New York, threaten to prove interminable. A writer, who holds to the theory of its being a petrifaction and not a statue, thus sums up the evidence i support of his views:

First. Near Cardiff have been found skeletons of human beings eleven feet tall; also, a fish petrified to perfect stone similar to that of the giant. Second. It is generally known and conceded that all statues of this character have a definite position, with a tablet or pedestal upon which they are designed to rest. This figure has none of these character sites. Third. If this be a statue ft appears reasonable to suppose that the sculptor would have represented the hair upon the head, while here the head is entirely smooth. Pourth. By knocking upon the head with the knuckles it gives a ringing hollow sound not produced in any other part of the body; and from the examination made in my presence, I feel assured that the head is hollow, which would not be the case had the figure been cut by hand from solid stone.

If the facts above given are correctly stated, the

If the facts above given are correctly stated, the theory at first advanced, that the nondescript stone man was a fossilized human body, is not as Improbable as certain knowing "special correspondents" would make it appear.

THE POSITIVE PHILOSOPHER.

BEAUFORT, S. C., November 24. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS. In a recent facetious editorial, entitled "Fash-mable Philosophy," occurred a few mistakes, which you may not take it amiss to have correct ed. The gentlemai, named in connection with the Positive Philosophy is Mr. John (not James) Fiske, and a graduate of Harvard in the class of 1863. Mr. F. holds no office in the college government, and is not entitled to be called profes sor. He with Mr. Emerson and a few others were appointed to deliver lectures, under the auspices of the university, during the present season; and, as undergraduates are excluded and the admission fee is too high to permit many persons at-tending, the position of lecturer is one of honor rather than profit.

Mr. Fiske has for quite a length of time written the book-notices for the New York World, and has also contributed often to the English Fortnightly "Smoking and Drinking," has been deservedly praised. It is agreeable, as it is unusual, to be able to add of a rising young literary man, that he is the opposite of a Radical in politics.

ALL ABOUT THE STATE.

Very near a Riot.

Very near a Riot.

The Marion Star says: "Last Saturday a difficulty sprang up between a white citizen and a drunken colored man. The abusive, insulting and profane language of the latter was the cause of his being knocked down, which seemed to enrage several of his sable friends to a pitch of frenzy, which was, after awhite, allayed with difficulty. Some of the negroes threatened our town with the torch publicly, and vomited up vengeful matedictions, which only advised our law-abiding citizens of the frezen viper in their bosoms."

Hardee Loose.

The Columbia Phemix says: "Last evening, about dusk, six colored prisoners, among them Henry Williams and — Zimmerman, succeeded in forcing apart the bars of a window over the rear steps of the lath, and, fastening several blankets togesher, slid down and escaped. Shortly afterwards the residence of Captain Sloan was entered white the family was at supper, and several hats and a shawi carried off. The supposition is that some of the escaped prisoners were the robbers."
